THE body of a man clad in woman's clothes found inside a water retention pond at Jalan Air Tawar, Air Panas in Setapak two days ago, has been identified as Kanan a/l Muthiah @ Suppiah.

The 42-year -old man with shoulder length hair was identified from his fingerprints as his personal documents were missing. Sentul district police chief ACP Zakaria Pagan said Kanan's last known address was 282-B, Batu 21/2, Jalan Ipoh, Kuala Lumpur.

When police conducted a check at the house, it was occupied by a family that does not know anything about Kanan.

"We are urging his family members or friends to come forward to facilitate police investigations into Kanan's murder. So far nobody has come forward with any information," Zakaria said.

Those who have information about Kanan or the murder can contact ASP Aziz of the Sentul district police headquarters on 03-2610 2222 or 019-9280024.

On Monday evening, Kanan's body — clad in a blue T-shirt and a purple dress — was found floating by an angler who went fishing at the pond.

Police believe he was murdered elsewhere and dumped into the pond.

Menurutnya, setakat ini, pihaknya sudah menerima dua laporan polis daripada beberapa badan bukan kerajaan (NGO) serta orang perseorangan yang membantah penganjuran program berunsur homoseksual itu.

"Susulan laporan itu, kami sudah melakukan siasatan dan mendapati ramai pihak tidak bersetuju serta membantah program itu termasuk daripada persatuan agama Islam, Kristian, Hindu dan Buddha.

Police ban 'Seksualiti Merdeka' programme

0 comments

KUALA LUMPUR: The Royal Malaysia Police today banned any functions organised by any group relating to the 'Seksualiti Merdeka' programme in the interest of public order.

Deputy Inspector-General of Police Datuk Seri Khalid Abu Bakar said police had identified and would call everyone involved including former Bar Council president Datuk S.Ambiga to record their statements.

"Police will take action under Section 27 A (1) (C) of the Police Act as well as 298 A of the Penal Code to prevent any function relating to the programme," he told a media conference, here today.

He said the law in the country did not recognise any deviationist activity that could destroy the practice of religious freedom.

"Police received many protests from non-governmental organisations including Islamic and non-Islamic organisations who feared that the programme could create disharmony, enmity and disturb public order," he said.

Merdeka Seksualiti 2011, the five-day programme which started two days ago at the Annexe Galeri, Central Market here, among other things called for equal rights for the homosexual and transsexual groups such as the gay, lesbian, bisexual, intersexual and transgender groups.

Khalid said two police reports had been received so far urging the police to take action against those for trying to organise the programme which jeopardised public order.

Some 20 to 30 police personnel abruptly ended a talk last night in Kuala Lumpur, held in conjunction with the banned Seksualiti Merdeka festival. (Malaysiakini, 4 Nov 2011)

Police report filed against gay med student

A Muslim NGO wants the police to probe Ariff Alfian Rosli, who reportedly got married to a man in Ireland.

KUALA LUMPUR: The police have been urged to investigate gay medical student Ariff Alfian Rosli who reportedly married an Irish man over the weekend.

The report was filed by Muslim NGO, Kepong Islamic Youth Organisation (PBIK), with the Sentul police headquarters here this morning.

"We are making the police report in the name of the Malays against a Malay youth who disgraced the name of our country, religion and race.

"We want to pressure the Higher Education Ministry and government-linked companies which sponsors students for education abroad to ensure that the students' Malayness and Islamic identity are strong," said PBIK chairman Norizan Ali.

Ariff, 28, who was studying in the University College Dublin was initially reported to be missing. He is a former Petronas scholarship recipient.

Meanwhile, Malaysian ambassador to Ireland Ramli Naam confirmed that Ariff's whereabouts has been located but was unable to reveal the information as it was against Ireland's Data Protection Act.

Norizan also said that PBIK is against any efforts to introduce the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transexual culture.

"Malaysian Muslims must adhere to the Islamic laws and our country's laws even when they are abroad," he added.

Thank you!
